

Apply Now for UNtraining White Liberal Racism Phase 1B Starts Sun, Jan 3 ONLINE! Deadline: Nov 7

"Loving yourself is a political act. We are taught not to love ourselves and from that place we are easily manipulated... Love yourself so much that this love changes the world."

-Rita Shimmin, UNtraining co-founder

This is a powerful moment in the history of racial justice in the US. Our collective consciousness is evolving to hold a diversity of realities that includes the pain, suffering and joys of all people. For more than 25 years, the UNtraining has offered a provocative and compassionate approach to help people discover how to work together in extraordinary ways to end our collusion with all forms of oppression, and to end racism. We are all connected. How we treat ourselves has direct impact on how we treat others. When others are harmed, we are harmed. This new group is for white people to explore what it means to be white in a small, supportive group. Whatever level of experience and activism we may have, the invisible "white training" can get in the way of our ability to intervene effectively when racism occurs. Phase One introduces the basic tools and concepts of the UNtraining using experiential exercises, journaling, readings, and group work.

These tools can help us to:

- Be more aware of the ways the white training impacts our views of ourselves, our relationships with others, and our work in the world
- Communicate authentically and compassionately with others about issues of racism and white privilege
- Move beyond the dichotomy of seeing ourselves or other white people as either "good white people" or "bad racists" by learning to hold our white social conditioning in the context of basic human goodness
- Recognize how our personal stories allow the training to "hook" us and render us ineffective in interrupting racism – and more!

What Participants Say

"What is unique and inspiring about the UNtraining is that we work from the inside out. We look at what's going on inside of us and how that translates into our actions. We learn about our own privilege, conditioning, racism, etc. in order to change the world by accepting, loving and ultimately changing ourselves."

"The support and compassion that existed in the group, as modeled by the facilitators was amazing and freeing. I got an opportunity to begin a deeper journey into my relationship to white privilege and racism. I learned about the various ways I defend against my own racism and how relevant those defenses are in the rest of my life. I received conceptual tools as well as experiential techniques for feeling my emotional reactions to my privilege and my learned racism."
